November is now upon us as we spiral into the silly season. A whirlwind of meetings, events, get-togethers, and parties that will need to fit around work. This time of year is always a juggle.

I envy people that are super organised each year, by now all of the gifts would have been bought and wrapped, the menus planned. Every year I swear that will be me. But of course it never is!

Inevitably I will be the one dashing to the shops at the last minute to do my entire shop, including food and gifts. But trust me, this does have its advantages as you can usually pick things up a little cheaper!

Due to my very busy lifestyle, I have managed to get out of ever having to cook a Christmas Dinner or lunch. The mere thought of having to cater for more than six people in one sitting sends me into panic mode!

This month is a great one to have goals. Write 'to-do' list, and pace yourself as this is the only way you will get through the Christmas period in one piece!

With so many events on this month don't forget to share your event photos with us via our Facebook page or by emailing them to whatsonfrasercoast@outlook.com.

Remember, whatever you choose to do choose to enjoy it!

Cheers,
Kim Farrell

GET READY TO RACE!

By Jeffery Morris

THE HERVEY BAY TRIATHLON CLUB IS RUNNING THEIR 9TH BEACH HOUSE HOTEL HERVEY BAY 100 AND LOOKING AT A CAPACITY FIELD. ONE OF THEIR SMALLER EVENTS - AS PART OF THE MULTISPORTS FESTIVAL IS STILL HITTING ITS STRAPS.

The Kingfisher Bay Resort Barge2Beach ocean swim, now in its 3rd year, has become a permanent feature in the weekend's program, enticing people from far afield to come and tackle the challenging swim.

The first event was run in 2017 and was a long-kept dream of Ron Morgan, a local salty legend. The event was brought to life by current Hervey Bay 100 race organiser Jeff Morris, and Kingfisher Bay Resort who are sponsoring the event by providing the Fraser Dawn Barge to transport the swimmers to the start line.

In the first year, a hundred swimmers safely make the 21km journey back to the beach at Enzō's. 2018 saw some areas of the event smoothed out, and 140 swimmers enjoy the barge journey and swim.

With a few weeks left to get your entry in, the 140 mark had already been surpassed, potentially a full barge of 200 swimmers could take the plunge on November 23. Ocean swimming has a cult following, so combined with the now widely known 'Hurdy' this event looks to have cemented itself a place in the region's sporting calendar.

The Barge2Beach along with the long-running iconic Pier to Pub swim hosted by the Hervey Bay Surf Lifesaving Club and the new Enzo's Ocean Swim Classic by Tribe Multisport has put the Fraser Coast on the sporting map with these kinds of events.

Bean Boat Cafe has also thrown their weight behind these events by making a 'Triple Crown' series out of the 3 swim events.

So, sit back and enjoy, or get out and involved with the Barge2Beach or Hervey Bay 100 Triathlon this year, on 23 & 24 November. Don't forget to show all the visitors to town what a friendly region we truly are.

There is lots to see and do!

*November is all about

We chat to the gorgeous Pacey & Mak, radio announcers on H&S101.9. This duo certainly knows how to dish out the laughs. I am also excited to introduce a new monthly column written by Blandy from Triple M's 103.5 - that is sure to get everyone talking.

Remember the era of vinyl records...well DJ Dave does! In fact, he has thousands of them and loves nothing more than playing them to the crowds around the Fraser Coast, so let him entertain you.

Picture yourself on a barge heading out into the ocean, in nothing but your togs, and then jumping off the end - with the picturesque Hervey Bay as a distant backdrop. Well for all of those who enjoy the prospect jump on board for the annual Kingfisher Bay Resort Barge2Beach in this very popular annual event.

We check out a couple of Christmas Events happening in November - yes, it is nearly that time again to think Christmas carols, tinsel, gifts, and decorations. Make sure you get along and support these great local events.

The UK Bee GeeZ are heading to the Bay and pay perfect tribute to the Bee Gees. They will deliver the songs, the harmony and the humour in a show that will have you up and dancing.

Think...under the stars, spinning wheel, prizes galore - and you know that it is time once again for everybody's favourite - The Hervey Bay Local Ambulance Committee's annual Ambulance Goods Wheel. It is hard to imagine that this event has now been going for over 65 years!

Over the coming months, you will be hearing a lot more from Hit101.9's Pacey & Mak as they make their debut in our magazine. I caught up with the hilarious duo to ask them some pressing questions and to get to know them on a deeper level. -Kim Tell us a little about your background?

Pacey - So I'm actually part gypsy and have moved more times than I care to count. I grew up in northern NSW and am one of the middle kids from a family of 4 - not sure what that says about my personality... I decided to apply for the radio course at the Australian Film Television & Radio School in Sydney after listening to radio shows and thinking 'I could do that'. It's proven to have been a good choice as I've had some great times in the industry and met a lot of terrific people.

Mak - I've been on the Fraser Coast for around 8 years after spending time on the Gold and Sunshine Coasts working in radio. I used to pull beers at the Beach Bar at Eurong Beach Resort on Fraser Island in my early 20's so I was stoked to return to this region.

What does the word Community mean to you?

Pacey - I absolutely love being part of the community. Whether that's chatting to my neighbours, meeting people while out walking our dog Bandit, sparking up a convo at the supermarket checkout - there's so many opportunities to interact and get to know people in the local community.

Mak - Community is very important in my family. It's what shapes our kids and helps us to be better people. I'm involved in the 'Dunga Derby' and seeing how that money is raised and then put back into locals with needs is true community spirit for me. The Fraser Coast community is one of the best I've been around.

If you were stranded on an island, what three things could you not live without?

Pacey - The three things I couldn't live without would be our border collie, my man and a limitless supply of fruit. Oh, and I'd sneak in a pair of tweezers...
Damn Maltese heritage!

Mak - I couldn't live without a radio. A Mimi's supreme pizza, and a fridge full of Baler XPA.

Tell us a little about your Breakfast show, what do you think makes it unique?

Pacey - We have a lot of fun on the show and don't take ourselves too seriously - we love to chat to locals, interview all sorts of people and support local events on the beautiful Fraser Coast.

Mak - I've been broadcasting on the Fraser Coast for many years with a number of different hosts and I think we have always managed to be a part of the Fraser Coast's lifestyle. I believe we come across as people that are in this with everyone together. We enjoy a laugh while informing and entertaining locals.

Do you have a special message for the people of the Fraser Coast?

Pacey - Thanks for tuning into the show! Don't ever be shy to call us in the studio on 13 12 16 - we always love to hear from you about absolutely anything! We are truly blessed to live in such a beautiful part of this world and it's a pleasure to wake up with you in the mornings! Hope to hear from you soon.

Mak - Look after each other and help the community be even better by supporting local events and businesses. If you haven't been to Fraser Island recently, then it's probably time you should. It's a great place to reset.

Pasta AT ITS FRESHEST

By Kim Parnell

After doing his apprenticeship at Ristorante Fellini on the Gold Coast and spending nine years perfecting his craft, Nathan Crowd moved to the Fraser Coast six years ago.

With a passion for the Italian culture that is deeply rooted from his special relationship with the Fellini family - who he credits with teaching him the various elements of Italian cooking, Mr Crowd is now a restaurant owner.

The Fraser Coast Artisan Pasta Bar opened its doors in August of this year after much anticipation. Since opening nearly 3000 customers have been served.

The word Artisan means made traditionally - usually by hand. Nathan said, "in this instance it was taken from my link to Ristorante Fellini. I would like my restaurant to follow in their footsteps.

On the menu you will find all types of freshly made pasta, made on-site. New dishes are added on a regular basis. The most popular dishes are the Traditional Ragù, Chicken Carbonara and the Garlic Prawns.

Nathan has big dreams for the future of his business and said, "My biggest goal would be to franchise the restaurant one day in the not too distant future".

With the delivery of another, bigger pasta machine coming all the way from Italy, and with both machines running at the same time, Nathan says that they should be able to produce up to a staggering 21 kilos of pasta an hour.

With a constant demand for fresh pasta on the Fraser Coast, the business also proudly supplies to other restaurants and cafes around the region.

The Fraser Coast Artisan Pasta Bar is a great new addition to the Fraser Coast food scene.

There are so many great local restaurants and cafes out there that are doing some really great things - they deserve our support and to stand out. "I believe in the old saying that a rising tide lifts all boats. I want the Fraser Coast to shine", Nathan said.

Fitness on the Fraser Coast with CLINT ROBERTSON

There is no doubt that your chosen sport is good for your health, but why is it such a strong part of our culture?

What drives young men and women to continue to pursue a career in sport? Why do parents encourage their kids to participate in team sports when it seems to take up so much free time?

In short, parents know that many of the benefits of sport that cross over into life begin in the junior ranks. Participants develop patience and empathy early in their sporting lives by learning to wait for their turn on shared equipment. They learn to share and to share equipment. They learn the skills of inclusion and togetherness (effective teamwork). As participants progress through the junior ranks and into more competitive levels, they will discuss the feeling of being a part of something bigger, that feeling of looking into their teammate's eyes, knowing that they share a common goal, and they know that they will give up a part of themselves for their teammate in order to achieve it.

Sport has been described as a microcosm of society. In life, as in sport, your reaction to events will dictate the type of opinion that people form about you. Respond poorly to an event and it is less likely people will want to continually work alongside you, regardless of your skill or competence. Conversely, respond with polish and refinement and people will be willing to work with you in the future as they perceive you as steadfast and dependable.

Sport gives us the opportunity to win and lose (ideally gracefully on both occasions) and ultimately gives us the opening to learn how to deal with the outcome. In a team environment, when you succeed the highs are higher, you have friends that you have shared the journey with and experiences that may be shared forever. Conversely, the lows are not as low because you have friends who know and can help you carry your load.

Ultimately, sport teaches us that teamwork makes the dream work turn up, do your part, help your teammate do theirs and do all of it with a positive 'I can-do' approach.

Try your luck on THE WHEEL FOR CHARITY

For over 65 years, The Hervey Bay Local Ambulance Committee's annual Ambulance Goods Wheel has been held on the Scarness foreshore over the Christmas holidays. It has become a tradition for many local families and holidaymakers, to bring the whole family, their folding chairs and picnic rugs down to 'The Stage' at Scarness for a night out and to try their luck on the Ambulance Wheel.

This year, the Ambulance Goods Wheel will start spinning on Saturday 14th December and will be held nightly from 7pm (except Christmas Day) till Saturday 4th January 2020.

Each night 100 - 200 tickets are sold before the wheel is spun. Tickets are just 50 cents each. All winning ticket holders get to choose their own prize from the huge range on display. Prizes include: toys, kitchen and homeware, small electrical items, camping, gardening, fishing and auto items, manchester, skateboards, scooters and pool toys and so much more. There are approximately 1000 prizes in total, all of which are sourced and purchased locally throughout the year by the Hervey Bay LAC.

All losing tickets, with your name and phone number on the back, go in the barrel for a chance to win the Major Prize of a Hooded Gas BBQ which will be drawn on the last night.

On Christmas Eve, Santa will take time out from his busy schedule to come to the wheel to hand out sweet treats to the children.

The Ambulance Goods Wheel could not run without support from local Service Clubs and groups, who volunteer their time to sell tickets over the three weeks the Wheel is held. These include the Rotary Clubs of Hervey Bay City & Hervey Bay Sunrise, Fraser Lions, View Club, Hervey Bay Lions, Zonta, Hervey Bay Councilors & Bendigo Bank.

Support from the Fraser Coast community for the Ambulance Goods Wheel has always been great, with several businesses donating prizes for second chance draws and another helping to move the equipment necessary to run the wheel.

Proceeds from the Goods Wheel supports Queensland Ambulance through the Local Ambulance Committee.

The Hervey Bay Ambulance Goods Wheel is the only one still running in Queensland! So, come on down, bring your folding chairs, 50cent pieces and join in the fun. If luck is on your side, you may just take home a prize or two, or the BBQ!

Corn cakes, avocado
salsa & plated sides

Our corn cakes with fresh avocado salsa and sides are a spring favourite at Arkarra Gardens Café Restaurant. The tastes and textures in this dish really highlight our regional produce, it is a versatile breakfast or lunch option. You can swap out the bacon rashers for mushrooms and roast vegetables if you prefer vegetarian.

Corn cakes:

1 kg fresh corn kernels
2 small Spanish onions
2 eggs
1 bunch chopped coriander
50-75 grams plain flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
Salt/pepper to taste

Blend 1/3 corn and all other ingredients. Stir in remaining corn. The batter needs to be firm, test one in a fry pan to make sure they hold together. Pantry with a little oil.

Avocado Salsa:

4 diced avocados
1 bunch chopped coriander
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 bunch very finely chopped shallots
3-4 dashes tabasco sauce
Salt/pepper to taste
500 grams olive oil

Mix all ingredients together gently. Plate up in layers of corn cakes, salsa, crispy fried bacon rashers, whole roasted mushrooms and a little rocket with poached eggs and tomato-chilli jam or sweet chilli sauce on the side.

UK BEE GEEZ

head to the Bay

The UK Bee Gees are the most realistic tribute to the Bee Gees that you will ever see or hear!

As the trio appear on the stage you can just feel the air of amazement by the audience. The UK Bee Gees have gone to great lengths to be certain that not only is the music very accurate, but that they look and act every inch as the Gibb brothers.

All the great songs, the harmony voices, the look, the marmite and the dry humour – all are faithfully recreated.

From the first opening song of 'You Should Be Dancing', all the way through to the romantic ballads such as 'How Deep Is Your Love' and finally into the fantastic Disco tracks such as 'Night Fever' and 'Stayin' Alive', you can be forgiven for thinking that the real Bee Gees are there with you.

Former presidents of the official Australian Bee Gees Fan club Glenda Bowman & Vicki Simpson agree that the UK Bee Gees are the most realistic tribute to the Gibb Bros they have witnessed.

The show was formed in England back in early 2000 and has wowed audiences all over the globe many times performing in countries such as the UK, India, South Africa, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and all over Europe appearing on many television and radio shows.

They have also appeared alongside world famous acts such as —

The Village People, The Supremes, The Temptations, Leo Sayer, John Paul Young & Mencia Hines to name a few.

Now based on the spectacular Gold Coast, the guys guarantee to take you on a trip down memory lane in this spectacular two-hour family show performing all the classic Bee Gees hits over their 4 decades at the top of the pop charts from 1966 to 1999.

ART EXHIBITION Near and Far Away

Born in Holland, Wilhelmus Breikers completed a visual art degree in Brisbane, and has worked as an art instructor at both secondary and tertiary levels. Since moving to the Fraser Coast, he has been keenly involved in the cultural life of the community and has continued exhibiting his artwork, most recently at The Gympie Regional Art Gallery in a solo exhibition titled "Romancing the Landscape." A finalist in The Gallipoli Prize and the Brisbane Art Prize, and winner of the 2018 Rio-Tinto Martin Hansen Memorial Art Awards painting prize, Wilhelmus Breikers' art comprises drawing, painting and photographic work. It is by way of these mediums that he affirms his rationale for making art: To make a work that is new and that reveals something unknown is sufficient.

"Near and Far Away", by Wilhelmus Breikers, comprises drawings and paintings that reflect their inspirational origins, from nearby River Heads to faraway Yorkshire, and that are also a contemporary response to subject, a direction which has continued to test the artist's practice and suggest a way forward for continued work.

When making art Wilhelmus frequently starts with representational studies that respond to the subject's shapes, forms and colours, and then often retain some of that while creating arrangements that answer to their own inner logic. It is an approach that imbues the work with a literalness and that literal element has a doorway to the beauty in the subjects and ideas the artist encounters. The artwork becomes a space in which personal interests search for common ground with the question of art for its own sake and art for the sake of something else.

Wilhelmus says that he takes inspiration as he finds it and that he has always liked picturesque scenes – literally those fit to be made into a picture, and still remembers when he was much younger being energized by joy at having represented on paper something that was out there in front of him.

He still loves valleys and trees and mountains and streams, which partly has to do with the stories that he constructs for them, or that are there already... Such as with "Now his ghost wanders the bush where Scrammy Jack lived" – ("scrammy" because he had been injured and was then left-handed). When he could no longer work Scrammy took himself out bush, being unused to people and busy places and more used to his own company, and lived in a rough hut, visited occasionally by friends, with food and chat, until he was found dead one day.

And there is the story of Wilhelmus' fascination with a view just south of Tiaro. He's made a number of works based on it. From the large accidental drawing that arrived almost fully formed as he was developing something else; to the charcoal work that appears to include a herd of elephants in the foreground, which he liked too much to reconstruct; to the most recent painting of that subject, "Two Hills".

Then there is Yorkshire, which now is anywhere – because subjects are a starting point, which is no more the case than in "Dundathu", which is a familiar scene that has become fused to a thought about life and belief. Dundathu is a Batjala word meaning dead timber.

For Wilhelmus Breikers the title, "Near and Far Away", is both a metaphor for connection with landscape and its stories as well as a literal reference to location, the works revealing something of a Romantic view of the subject as well as becoming the motif for explorations of surface and form in a less-literal mode of expression.

Just when you thought it was safe to go back to the lounge room with the sounding of the final siren, the curtain once again comes down on another footy season.

For those amongst us who would rather pick lint out of their navel than be subjected to the constant crashing of bodies, endless dribble by commentators and couch potatoes alike, a collective sigh of relief could be heard echoing throughout the land.

Personally, I got through the season unscathed, although came close to tearing my calf muscle when bolting back into the lounge room after my team had scored a miracle goal with just seconds remaining in a match.

Yes, I had given up on them like I always do, but I somehow still managed to keep a sneaky ear on the commentary while pretending to do other things. Apart from those premiership-winning teams, it was once again heartbreak for the rest of us. "There's always next year", "we were robbed", and "if only blah, blah, blah" are often phrases used by fans in disappointment, but in reality, our bloody teams weren't good enough.

Personally, I like "there's always next year," it leaves the glass half full and conjures up positive feelings; at least until round 3 next year when you realise, they're no better than they were last year.

So, as the disappointment and anticipation along with a rollercoaster of emotions are tucked neatly into bed for the coming months, it's time for us sporting tragics to pull out that wonderful summer ace we have up our sleeve. Yes, cricket is waiting in the wings.

If you've been watching our wonderful world-beating women's team, then it's already here, and the coming months will once again provide us with endless hours of tests, one-dayers and the ever-popular T20's. Sorry cricket haters, but hang on, here we go. "It's too hot to go outside anyway, isn't it?"

Now, where's that remote control?

EVENTS ON THE FRASER COAST

TIARO

Saturday, November 30 brings with it an event to remember, Tiaro Lions and Carols in the Country have combined this year to bring a spectacular family event to the region.

Tiara Lions have been hosting their annual Children's Christmas party on the last Friday in November for many years, even decades. This year the Carols in the Country is combining with this event to bring a Christmas event for families to enjoy and to celebrate the up and coming Christmas season.

Tiara Lions Children's Christmas party will run from 5pm with free rides for children running throughout the evening and into the night. Food will be available for purchase from the Tiara Lions stall with a licensed bar also on site. Try your luck on the ham wheel with beautiful hams from Tiara Meats and Bacon to be won. Santa will visit at 9pm, with the evening ending with a spectacular firework display at 9pm.

Carols in the country as many would remember, was held at Gundah in previous years, but is now being combined with the Tiara Lions Christmas party and will be running from 6:30-8:30pm. With an array of local artists including Just Us, Maryborough Youth and Show Choirs, individual artists, Maryborough Brass Band, Marsong and Makin' Whoopee to keep you entertained.

We are hoping this will be a successful event for the community and a night for families to remember. We would like this event to continue for many years to come as a new family tradition and a spectacular event for the region.

This event would not be possible without the amazing sponsors and support from the community. It has always been an event the community, in particular the children, have looked forward to each and every year, so bring along a picnic rug, chairs and your best Christmas spirit and we look forward to seeing you all at the event.

Like and follow the Tiara Lions Facebook Page or the Carols in the Country Facebook page for more details and to keep up to date.

Good Times with MICK LINDSAY

Australian Independent singer-songwriter Mick Lindsay heads to Hervey Bay this month as part of his Australian Tour. Having released two singles this year with 'Drink About You', followed by 'If You're Sleeping', Mick is glad that all of the hard work is beginning to pay off. Kate

Tell us a little about your latest single 'Drink About You' – where did the idea for this song come from?

There are a lot of break up songs out there, but I really wanted to put a song out with another perspective. Instead of highlighting the heartbreak its about remembering the good times.

What did it feel like when you had your first song on the top 5 of the AIRAS in 2016?

As an independent artist it is a great feeling for the hard work to pay off. The Aira chart is based on sales and streaming so it's pretty cool that just fans alone put my music in the same group as the artists signed to major labels.

You have toured extensively over the last eight years, where are some of the more interesting places that you have performed?

I have played in more than thirty countries, but coming home and playing to a QLD crowd is the most interesting and still by far my favourite.

Other than country music you also perform rock, soul/funk and pop, which genre do you prefer?

I feel like a lot of the genres blend together these days. It's not just country music I perform. It's the hybrid between all genres that I love.

As a songwriter, what is the songwriting process like for you?

I find the best way I write songs is to collaborate with others. I normally team up with a lyricist as I am more of an ideas and music guy.

Do you have a special message for the people of the Fraser Coast before your performance?

There is nothing that can compare to live music and every show has its own unique vibe. It is a collaboration of my performance and the audience. Definitely come down and be a part of the show – it will be a good time.

WITH LEAH

"Get ya togs on Susan!"

Bathers, swimmers, cozzie, togs, whichever title you give them, they are the single most difficult garment of clothing for women to buy! And as simple as this may seem, my fundamental tip for getting the right pair of togs to suit YOU is, don't get swallowed up by tog trends! If there is ever a time to understand your body shape, its features and your colourings, now is the time to do it!

For a lot of us, wearing a swimsuit is an extremely vulnerable time for a woman! After all the bits we don't like about our bodies are on show (even though those very bits we hate, the woman beside us probably wishes she had instead of her own hated bits!). Again and again I will come back to this mantra... wear a swimsuit that suits YOU! If a bikini is not in that equation for your body type, don't wear one. Just because the latest summer swim campaign may be pushing Brazilian cut bikinis doesn't mean you have to wear them. In fact, lots of us shouldn't (and I say that with all the love in my bones!) If you're in this equation I am!, opt for a classic killer one-piece. They have proven to be a styling icon all throughout the ages (as early as the mid 1900's actually!) and they never date.

Now, something to throw in here is the link to memories of a loved one wearing a full piece, and that putting disturbing thoughts in your brain cells! I was reminded of this in a conversation I had with a girlfriend once. When asked what swimsuit she wears, she responded with a bikini, and only a bikini. To which I asked why she never wears a full piece. Her response really surprised me and made me realise that memory is a poignant link to female and fashion. Her mum and grandma use to wear a one-piece and so she perceives them to be old-fashioned. And it didn't seem to matter that this gal has seen some absolutely stunning Sealife models wearing one-pieces all throughout the fashion industry, her link to them being old-fashioned 'cos mum use to wear them', overrode this. She's not alone in this thinking and I don't blame her at all for it. It's a very common reason for women feeling inhibited with their fashion and style. But, if I may suggest, try to eradicate the idea that fashion has to be worn because that's what the shops have in stock. WEAR WHAT SUITS YOU always. Wear what suits your bodyshape, your personality and your colourings. It's so simple (and wonderful!) when you do. Back to togs...

I have my mother's body shape (small hips, fairly lean arms and legs, NO boobs thank you sons, and a fabby tummy!). I always feel my most comfortable and therefore confident in a one-piece. I know the fabby and saggy bits won't pop out of places they're forbidden to, and I can practically play on the beach and in the surf with my boys without an inappropriate tvg flash!

Now, if you've been blessed with taut and terrific boobs, turn turn and burn, then don a bikini in all its glory queen! You should, you MUST for all us mamas out there who mourn our pre-sucking days. Wear your bikini and enjoy them for the love of god (before it all starts to sag south!).

It's valuable for me to point out here, that I'm most definitely not one to frown at my fellow sistas who don't have taut and terrific body parts but still choose to wear a gorgeous bikini (this is me too!), simply because it helps them to feel young and beautiful. I totally get this too! The point I'm trying (by rambling) to make here is that if you're smart with knowing your body and generally style it well, wear the swimsuit that suits you, not the swimsuit that you've seen in all the summer campaigns that fools one into believing that you have to wear it.

Need help finding the perfect pair of togs for you, I'm keen for a chat anytime xx

HERVEY BAY, QLD

AGE OF DIAGNOSIS: 30

I was 30 years old when I was diagnosed. At the time I had just become a new mother and recently got engaged. Life for me was great. Then I received the call from my doctor that was about to turn it all upside down.

As a 70's child, I grew up listening to records and still remember the crackle and clarity of those live recordings. I still have some of my old records stored away somewhere to pull out now and then to reminisce.

Several weeks ago, I was with a group of friends relaxing on a Saturday afternoon at the Hervey Bay Surf Lifesaving Club. Every few months the club puts on some entertainment for us all to enjoy. This particular time they had this DJ called Dave who played all original music from the 50's 60's, 70's and 80's on vinyl records. The surf club was packed full of people clapping, singing and dancing as they embraced all of the memories that the songs evoked. I always get a buzz out of seeing so many people all in one place, having a great time.

Dave, or David Boss as he is known, lives and breathes 45's, LP's, EP's and 78's. In fact, he has a collection of old 78's that he has recorded onto YouTube. With access to Bill Haley, Elvis, and Fats Domino Dave said, "The sound is totally different from what it is like on a CD. You get all that crackle; you also get the original mono".

Dave's first stint as a DJ was in England at the age of eighteen and happened almost by accident. Working as a Security Guard at the time he was enjoying a drink after work when the manager of the club asked him to put on some music...so Dave did. He was then offered a regular DJ spot. He ended up working professionally for a decade as a DJ during his youth in London, before moving to Australia after getting married.

Dave said, "It has always been about the music. I can remember living in Victoria and catching the train. It was a Saturday morning. I went all the way into the city and bought The Beatles Rock n Roll music record. It was played over and over again. I still have the record stored away".

As a security guard for various promoters back in the day, Dave's claim to fame was escorting Freddy Mercury from the hotel room to the venue and remembers that Freddy said, thank you my lovely - just before getting on stage. Dave also worked with Gary Glitter at times and did security for Alvin Stardust.

"Back then there would be lots of bands playing each night, it would be nothing if you heard about four bands a night".

Dave is interested in doing a lot more on the DJ scene on the Fraser Coast and is available for all occasions from private to corporate events and would like to get into the local pubs and clubs as he has a huge repertoire.

"I enjoy the reaction from the crowd when certain songs are played. I make sure that everybody is happy as I want them to enjoy the music".

V.I.PARTY

Introducing band members

Quinn (Radiostar) Hendry: Main singer and six string.
The Electric Phil "Harmonic" Sweet: Keyboards and vocals
Ryan "Rhythm" White: Tempo tools and vocals
John "Sure Can" Sheehan: 5 string bass frequencies and vocals

Tell us a little about each member's experience and background?

Quinn: I've been playing around the Fraser Coast for the last decade as a soloist under the name the Radiostar before recently joining a band.
Phil: I have been performing since the age of thirteen, I am also a piano teacher, and have done studio work. I have performed many styles and in support to many leading AUS artists.
Ryan: I am now a professional Musician and have worked in the industry for over twenty years performing in original and cover acts North to South. I live on the Fraser Coast teaching music and enjoying the new journey as a part of V.I.PARTY.
John: I sing and play anything with strings and or frets. I have performed extensively during the 80's & 90's supporting most major artists on the East Coast of Australia.

Tell us about V.I.PARTY - How did the band form and what kind of music do you play?

V.I.PARTY formed when three former members of Dicky Switch decided to go in a more digital dance direction musically. We were lucky to find a very talented timekeeper who could also add another voice to our cause. Formed from the core of one of the regions busiest bands, V.I.PARTY now play a wider variety of popular covers from the 70's onwards. For the band, it's all about the people we are performing for! If they aren't having a great time, we're not doing our job. Our aim is to set the benchmark as high as possible and deliver a great show every time we play.

Where did the name come from?

Very Important Party. The name came from weeks of brainstorming (and approx. one in a billion of suggestions) between band members back and forth until something clicked...essentially we want to provide a corporate party atmosphere that everyone is invited to and we think the name V.I.PARTY says that.

Who are your inspirations and why?

Phil: Funk, Dance, Disco, Progressive Rock artists
Ryan: If it's got a great groove that gets you tapping along or up dancing, then we're inspired!
Quinn: I'm inspired by the funk masters James Brown and Prince because they worked really hard at getting their bands tight and broke new ground with their sound.
John: Anything really. You'd be surprised how much all types of music influences people's lives on a daily basis. Broaden your mind I say!

What would you like the future of V.I.PARTY to look like?

Busy doing big shows..... Predicting the future of anything is nearly impossible just ask a weatherman but we will be working hard on providing the Fraser coast with a go to good time party atmosphere at every gig we do.

What can people expect if they come to see you perform?

A highly energetic and sophisticated show. People can expect a night out to remember and a reason for going out in the first place.

Do you have a message for the people of the Fraser Coast?

Phil: Look out we're coming to a venue near you!
Quinn: A quote from Prince... "If you didn't come to party don't bother knocking on my door" that's our message to the Fraser Coast.
John: We are the band you'll want to book for your next corporate function or big event.
Ryan: What they said!
